Michigan Vintage Volkswagen Club History

When Al Bulgrin became president in 1987, the club incorporated officially as the Michigan Vintage Volkswagen Club. At that time, most older Volkswagens had air-cooled engines, so the club focused on the air-cooled versions

Volkswagen first introduced water-cooled models in the US as the Rabbit in 1974. This model was marketed as the Golf outside of the U.S.

MVVC website develops into a comprehensive medium for Club related information, including photo gallery and event calendar, supplemented by the Club's own Facebook page.

MVVC goes Hollywood! "Herbie Fully Loaded" movie promo staged at the MVVC Vintage Festival, with aerial photo shoot with VWs in attendance forming both Herbie's number 53 and the VW logo, plus guest appearance by one of the original Herbie cars.

Annual Calendar of Club and VW enthusiast events grows to include at least one event almost every month.

In 2013, an overwhelming majority of MVVC members voted to include all vintage (25 years of older) VWs into the MVVC vehicle focus. This included the water-cooled versions heretofore excluded as well as modified dune buggies, sand rails, kit cars, etc. with air-cooled engines.

Our club has staged a Vintage Festival of national importance in our hobby, drawing VW lovers from across the country and Canada and displaying some of the finest old VWs to be enjoyed by all. Now held each year at Riverside Park in Ypsilanti usually in May.
